DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chen (U.S. patent no.7, 081,883).

As per claim 1, Chen shows a track ball structure for controlling movements of a cursor, comprising: a body; a capacity located in the body (in fig.4 elements 38a-h); a track ball housed in the capacity having a portion exposed outside the capacity for controlling the movements of the cursor (In fig.14b); and a plurality of sensors located in the capacity surrounding the track ball for detecting pressure directions (In fig.4 and In col.5 lines 60-67); wherein the track ball is rollable continuously in a selected direction to compress the sensors, so that the cursor is moved continuously in the selected direction(in col.5 lines 60-67).

As per claim 2, Chen shows body includes an upper shell and a base (in fig.5).

As per claims 3,4 Chen shows wherein the body has a button switch (in fig.7a element 52).

As per claim 5, Chen shows wherein the body has a rolling wheel for scrolling the window of a screen upwards and downwards (in col.6 lines 14-45).

As per claim 6, Chen shows wherein the body has a plurality of button switches and the rolling wheel is located between the button switches (in fig.10).

As per claims 7,8 Chen shows the pressure sensors with input device on top of the substrate, examiner is taking an official noticed that having the ball with pressure sensors on top or right or bottom and slanted is a design choice as long as the functionality is there.

As per claim 9, Chen shows the sensors are button detection devices (in fig.4).

As per claim 10, Chen shows eight different pressure sensors and by having more than eight would do the same cursor movement as taught by Chen (In fig.4 and col.5 lines 60-65) to control a cursor on a display.
